This Baby of Ours.

There's not a blossom of beautiful May, Silver of daisy or daffodil gay, Nor the rosy bloom of apple-tree flowers, Fair as the face of this haby of ours.

You could never find on a bright June day A hit of fair sky so cheery and gay, Nor the haze on the hills, in noonday hours, Blue as the eyes of this baby of ours.

There's not a murmur of wakening bird, The clearest, sweetest that ever was heard In the tender hush of the dawn's still hours, Soft as the hough of this baby of ours.

There's no gossamer silk of tasseled corn, No filmsiest thread of the say wood-tern Not even the cobweb spread over the flowers,

Fine as the bair of this baby of ours. There's no fairy shell by the sounding sea, No wild rose that nods on the windy les,

Pink as the palms of this buby of ours. May the dear Lord space her to us, we pray, For many a long and sunshiny day, Ere he takes to bloom in Paradise bowers, This wee bit darling-this baby of ours.

No blesh of the sun through April's soft showers

VARIETY.

Nothing recalls to the mind of the married man the joys of his single life so vividly as to find that the baby has been eating crackers in

A Chicago preacher has locked himself up in the fourth story and draws his meals up with a hed cord. He says they can't get up any slanders about him.

A Nevada paper says that owing to the incursions of the chinch bug last year the two great staples of the State at present are red-baired girls and cordwood.

A Long Island man has gone to sea with his soul stirred by the story of Enoch Arden. He wants to be wrecked and come home and find his wife married to another man. When that blushing San Francisco bride showed the check for $1,000,000 to her husband, he burst into tears and exclaimed, with intense fervor, " And even this shall not separate us!"

A Covington lady started a "Matrimonial Intelligence Office" recently, and managed to marry herself to the first man that applied, which proceeding brought the institution to an

"A home without children is like Heaven without angels," says a deacon. We just want to have him get out of bed four times a night for a month, to keep a baby's legs covered up.

And now the head of the family, returning from his "club" through the sharp midnight air, gently rolls his sleeping spouse over to the cold side of the bed and sinks softly into the vacated spot with a sigh of thankfulness.

A Montana editor bemoans the calamities of 1874 in the following strain: "First, that Beecher business, then the grasshoppers, then the Democratic victories, and now an increased tax on whisky. What is this poor country coming Chara Morris threatens to be the cause of some blood-spilling in San Francisco. A gentleman by the name of Harriott has been haunting the approaches to a certain newspaper office in that city, looking for the editor who calls his Clara a Blonde Bonanza."

Sarah Jones, of Bridgeport, received an offer of marriage and said " no," supposing her lover would press his suit. He did nt however, but coolly walked off home, and the next day a letter came to him from the maiden saying that since he was "so very determined" she would marry him. Her quick wit saved her from a broken

"No, Joe, no," said a man of principle and compassion, as with his teeth chattering he leaned agained the bar; "no hot Scotch for me. I couldn't swallow it while hundreds of wretched people are freezing at this moment. Gimme whisky-sour and plenty of ice. God pity the

An old maid don't know what it is to bend over the children's little white bed, softly pat their curly heads, and hear one of them grow! out: " Now, then, Sam, keep your paws off'n me, or I'll bat you in the eye.

MISUNDERSTANDING .- Old Lady-" Can you tell me, my good man, where I can find Mr. Jones?" Pat-" Sure, ma'am, I expect it would be at his house ye would find him." Lady-"Does he live anywhere in the street here?" Pat-" Sure, no, indade; it's not for the likes of him to be living in the street at all." Lady -" You stupid fellow, I mean what number does his family stop at?" Pat-" Now, ma'am, you have me; he has six boys and four girls already, but whether he minues to stop at that numbe -" Lady-" Oh, you blockhead?" Exit old lady in a tremor of indignation.

MENNONITE GOSPEL .- One of the leading elders of the Mennonites, thirty years ago, was one Miller, a man of immense strength. Passing a crowd of idlers at the court house he was stopped with the question: "Miller, they say if one smites a Mennonite on the right cheek he will turn the other. "Is that so?" "That is true." The questioner here gave him a smart blow on the cheek, when Miller, turning the other cheek, had it duplicated. This raised a great laugh as the fellow turned away. "Stop, my friend," said Miller; "If you had read a little further you would have found another passage that we also hold by. 'With the measure that ye mete unto others it shall be meted to you again, and heaping full." and picking him up bodily fairly thrashed the wall with him.

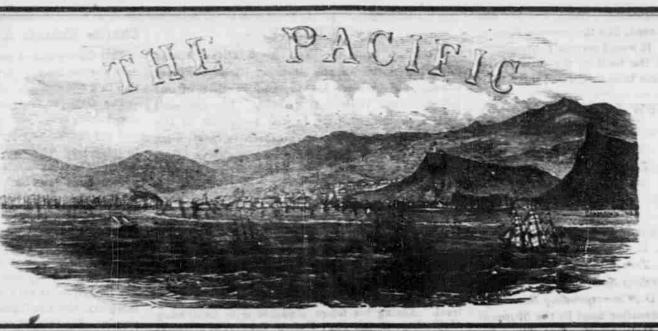

VERY REMARKABLE .- " John Paul " thinks that one of the most surprising things about spiritualism is the roundabout way in which ces. Something that the commonest sort of a Stencil Cutter in Plantation, do without exciting applause, be wonderful when a "spirit" is set up as the performer. For instance, young ladies have assured us that while sitting in dark circles they felt their hands squeezed, and would swear that somebody kissed them on their mouth. They would tell it, too, with their eyes wide open as saucers, and their jute witches standing on end with surprise, as though the possibility of such demonstrations on this earth of ours had never before entered their thought.

A HARDWARE STORE IN BED .- The Burlington (Iowa) Hawkeye man says the other night a man who lives out on Columbia street was kept down town by business until a very late bour, and his wife, knowing how cold he would be when he got home, put an iron on the stove, and when she heard him open the gate she jumped up, and hurriedly wrapping the iron in a piece of flannel, chucked it into bed for him to warm his great feet by. The man was cold, and taciturn, and cross. He crawled into bed with a groan, and shuddered with cold as he stretched himself out. Then he gave a year that shook the roof, and screamed fire, and waltzed out on the floor and around the room in the lark, filling the darkness with wild polanity. When his wife lighted the lamp they discovered a beautiful photograph of a sadiron on that man's foot, and it was found that the flannel had somehow got off the foot-warmer.

The man says that hereafter, if he must sleep with a hardware store, he wants it put in cold.
